Gardening Thoughts

"If you want to be happy for a lifetime, plant a garden."

— Chinese saying

Pat Grahm (left) took us on a trip down "bridal lane" after dinner as we enjoyed vintage bridal gowns and the history behind them.

Dennis Prusik (right) shared his thoughts on "when does spring arrive" as he spoke of the changing seasons and how we can keep track of the changes.

A Message from our President....

This past May, the WGCF convention took place in Oshkosh. Fox Valley District members did a wonderful job of handling details for meals, breakout sessions, speakers, and vendors.

The business of WGCF was completed and we were entertained too. Extraordinary weather complemented the entire event.

During pre-convention activities, the Tri-Council arranged for a tour of the Paine Art Center and Gardens. The history of the mansion is fascinating and the gardens were at their springtime best.

Our education continued with four breakout sessions and dinner speakers. An individual could learn about birding, the biodigester at UW-Oshkosh, Orchids or feeding the soil. And, the orchids were beautiful and for sale.

Dinner speakers, Pat Grahn, described wedding trends as old wedding dresses were modeled and Nate Bremer, the Bronze award winner, shared his journey to becoming a hybridizer of Paeonia, Hemerocallis, and Lillium.

At the closing luncheon, we enjoyed the talents of Floral Designer, Claudia Chopp, who said that “if something sits around too long, it gets painted”. It was amazing what she could do with parts of a seed pod from the Banana tree.

Awards, presented at meals, carried surprises and thrills for WGCF members. Marion Books was thrilled to be named the 2014 Lydia Schafer Award winner. At the NGC convention, I proudly accepted the NGC awards earned by WGCF members. These awards were among some of the surprises and thrills. Look for these awards in this issue. I encourage more members and clubs to apply for awards.

After the meeting was adjourned on May 22nd, Joan Goebel shared an informative PowerPoint program explaining the finances of WGCF. Members had a chance to ask questions, learn, and express their opinions. Additional ideas were solicited during the Strategic Planning workshop which took place June 12th.

Work and play were in the right proportion for this convention. It appears that the 2015 convention in Superior, Wisconsin will be fun, too. If you have not attended a WGCF convention or have not attended in years, I invite you to “take it to the lake!”

Scholarship winners, Elizabeth Vind and Taylor Christiansen (front row) spoke about their educational and career plans during a Convention luncheon. Such energy and enthusiasm these two recipients have for their career fields!! WGCF Scholarship Selection Chair Mary Ellen Sedlacek and Carolyn Craig (back row) enjoyed further conversation with the students after their presentations.

Memorial Service

as presented at Convention by Wendy Kramer

“Poem of Life”

Life is but a stopping place, A pause in what’s to be
 A resting place along the road, to sweet eternity.
 We all have different journeys; different paths along the way;
 We were all meant to learn some things, but never meant to stay.
 Our destination is a place far greater than we know.
 For some, the journey’s quicker; for some the journey’s slow.
 And when the journey finally ends, we’ll claim a great reward, and find an Everlasting peace, together with the Lord.

This year’s memorials were given to the following:
 Doris Swartz, Greg Warner, Douglas Ogilvie, Myrtle Ogilvie, Stuart Nelson, Marian Mooney, Dorie Becker, Phyllis Guskowski, Dorothy Nelle Sanders, Rosemary Sablejak, Blossom Skirvanie, Ruby Toft, William Kregel, Evelyn Eyermann, Dorothy Simon, Judith Forss, Sarah Stoll, Lois Doyle, Merle Klug, Karla Jill Koranda, Michele Marie Males, and Ida Schilstra.

We thank you Lord, for each life mentioned here and for the good deeds upon the earth. We pray that you will bless those who mourn, eternal God, with the comfort of your love; that they may face each new day with hope and the certainty that nothing can destroy the good that has been enriched with friendships and their lives encircled by your love. Amen

The Reflection Garden

On June 11th, 2014, the 13 members of the Willow River Garden Club of New Richmond, Wisconsin, proudly commemorated its Reflection Garden project at The Deerfield Senior Living Community and Gables Care Center with a “Dedication Celebration”. Celebrate, we did – for we had just completed a $40,000 garden with meandering paths, a bird sanctuary with trees & shrubs to attract birds, a raised bed therapy garden, a rain garden, dry river beds, a bubbling fountain, a “Plant It Pink Garden”, attractive garden seating made of recycled plastic, wild flowers & grasses to attract butterflies, 800 tulip & daffodil bulbs, old time perennials, & some annuals for continuous color!

When the project was initiated in 2013, we didn’t know if it would take one year or five years to complete. Funding was critical, but the landscape architect’s plan for the garden that was posted close to the garden entrance generated excitement! As residents, family members, visitors, & businesses started to see the garden’s potential, their heartfelt gifts came pouring in. Over the summer, we completed the garden in four stages with over $30,000 in donations received. Several foundations granted another $10,000.

The rewards are many: wheelchair bound residents circling the garden with their loved ones, noting the new blossoms that have just opened; families and staff members enjoying their lunches or coffee breaks on the patio; a retired horticulturist planning the raised bed therapy garden and numerous residents gathering to plant it; a stroke victim learning how to say words by singing them with her music therapist on a beautiful sunny day in the garden – and we could go on...

I personally celebrate the members of the Willow River Garden Club who said, “yes” to an enormous project. Working with the challenges of construction debris, compacted soil, extreme heat & drought, members contributed hours of volunteer labor to help make it happen. The “little garden club that could” can now look forward to the continuing rewards of having created this beautiful peaceful garden for our senior living community.

This area features a Taylor's Sunburst Pine”, along with some of the Mary Ellen Jasper boulders, donated by a rock expert.

Looking into the garden from above and ground level, one can see the many features which are included in the Reflection Garden. Bird feeders and benches, rocks and trees, flowers and shrubs are all incorporated into the landscape.

WGCF President Sylvia Lowell, Project Chair Carolyn Craig, and Vern Lowell celebrated the Dedication of The Reflection Garden, with members of the Willow River Garden Club and community residents.

Awards

Liz Murken, Chair

Congratulations again to all the winners of the WGCF, presented at the WGCF Convention in May. The Award winners are listed in this issue of Wisconsin Gardens. The NGC Awards received at the recent convention in Norman, OK are also listed.

The awards year begins on January 1 and continues through December 31 of each year. We're in the middle of the new awards year so keep in mind the things you need to be doing now so that you will be prepared to apply for these awards by December 1.

If you have questions on any awards, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Yearbooks

Pat Ritchie, Chair

Just a reminder that Yearbooks are due by November 1. As soon as you complete your yearbook, send a copy to WGCF President Sylvia Lowell; to WGCF Yearbook Chair, Pat Ritchie; your District Director and your District Yearbook Chair. All yearbooks will be judged in November again this year, so don't be late sending yours in.

Remember, you need to fill out the Yearbook Award Application Form if you are applying for the following awards: #7 Ruth West Horticulture Award; #8 Conservation Award; #16 Pat Dvorak Yearbook Theme Award; #27 Design Award; and #32 Nancy Gotham Endangered Species Award.

Tri Council Tour and Meeting

Gretchen Vest, Chair

When I arrived in Oshkosh in pouring rain on the Monday evening before Convention, I did not hold out much hope for a sunny day for our tour at the Paine Art Museum and gardens the next morning. I picked up some ponchos at a gas station for people that did not have rain gear and told myself, "The gardens will still be beautiful." Tuesday morning was a very different story. Sunny and warm, it was all you could ask for a garden tour. We were off for the annual tour and meeting for Tri-Council.

We were divided into groups for the tour of the mansion. I hope the other groups had as knowledgeable and nice a tour guide as we had. What a house! I had never seen such interesting wood paneling. It was amazing. Then out to the gardens.

The front of the house was surrounded by wide beds of thousands of glistening tulips. Near the front door was a lovely magnolia I had never seen before called "Daybreak". It is now on my wish list. We moved to the back of the house and saw the herb garden and then walked through a sea of Virginia bluebells covering the floor of the woodland garden. We sat in the shade of the garage now converted to a new center with meeting rooms. Many people continued walking around the gardens until time for lunch.

After a sandwich and salad lunch we had our meeting. Vern Lowell, Vice Chairman, is working on our summer tour which will be held on July 26. We will be touring two gardens at Epic Headquarters, a software company, in the Madison area. I have seen Epic featured on "Outdoor Wisconsin" and it will be a real treat to view the gardens. Additional information is listed on the next page of Wisconsin Gardens. Remember, all of our tours are open to everyone. If you are interested in going on this tour, please let Vern or me know and we will get you the information. You may register for the tours by contacting Carole Hopp.

Strolling the gardens and meeting up with friends at the Paine Museum on a lovely spring day was very enjoyable!

Wisconsin Judges Council

Lynn Laufenberg

Wisconsin Judges Council (WJC) is an educational organization for all NGC accredited Flower Show Judges and Student Judges completing and passing Course III of Flower Show School. WJC promotes the study and exhibiting of horticulture, the art of floral design and flower show procedure.

WJC welcomes all NGC members and clubs to ask for assistance in learning more information on presenting a flower show. All information regarding presenting and judging a Flower Show whether it be a Small Standard, Standard or Advanced Flower Show can be found in the Handbook for Flower Shows 2007. Updates to the Handbook can be found on the NGC website.

Wisconsin Judges Council meets yearly prior to Convention to study new information affecting flower shows both in horticulture and design. We currently have 29 members consisting of Student, Accredited, Master, Life and Emeritus levels.

Book Review: Revised and Re-released Books

Kay Villa

The American Horticultural Society Pruning & Training, The Definitive Guide to Pruning Trees, Shrubs, and Climbers, Christopher Brickell & David Joyce, Doringly Kindersley, 2011
Suggested Retail $22.95

Growing Perennials in Cold Climates, Mike Heger, Debbie Lonnee, and John Whitman, University of Minnesota Press, 2011
Suggested Retail $39.95

Here are two books that need to be in your reference collection.

They've been out of print and have recently been revised, updated, and are now available to the public.

My family borrowed the Pruning & Training book from our local library when we were shaping our espalier apple trees. We liked it so much that we decided we had to buy a copy. We looked long and hard for a source to sell us the original 1996 hardbound edition; unfortunately we paid four times more than the current suggested retail price for the 2011 paperback edition. This book is a bargain for the extensive technical information found within. There is general, along with specific, information about pruning and training techniques. Plant dictionaries are listed in alphabetical order and provide guidance on how to prune and train various plant groups and families. The book is easy to read and it gives you step by step instructions on each technique along with simple diagrams to illustrate and emphasize the concepts discussed in the text instructions.

Growing Perennials in Cold Climates. This book is ideal for use by Wisconsin gardeners to identify plants that thrive in our temperate zones. The book was first published in 1998. One of the additions to the 2011 edition is information on new perennial selections with variegated or brightly colored foliage. The book lists more than 2000 varieties of perennials that thrive in cold climates; and it gives five star ratings to some of the plants to help you select the top performers. Lists of mail order sources help you source those hard-to-find varieties. I particularly like the way that each plant family has its own chapter and within this section you'll find great information on cultivars, their foliage or color, size, and hardiness.

Landscape Design School

Gretchen Vest, Chair

On April 15 2014 it was tax day for most of the country but for twenty-nine students of Landscape Design it was the first day of the tenth series of classes that WGCF has sponsored. We met at the UW Arboretum in Madison. Ten people refreshed their certification and we had fourteen new students that took the exam. I am very happy to announce that everyone in the class passed the exam.

There did seem to be some confusion about the cost of taking the exam or getting refresher credit. The cost for either of these is $5.00. This is listed on applications as $5.00 Exam /refresher (Optional). The optional part refers to taking the exam or refreshing. You do not have to do this. If you do want to take the exam or refresh it costs $5.00. This is passed directly to NGC. It is their charge to maintain records. I hope this clarifies this. Please remember, if you have not refreshed in five years please plan to take the course this fall. If this is not possible contact me for an extension. If you do not refresh you will be considered "lapsed" and will have to write to the National accrediting chairman to ask to be reinstated. This is not automatic. She will consider your reason and make a decision. It is a lot of trouble to go through for not refreshing in five years. I was so happy with the school. I know how much effort the instructors put into preparing their classes. They seem to enjoy teaching for us and most will be back for the next school. I had no idea how hard putting together a school was. There are so many details to figure out. I could not have done this without Local Chair Vern Lowell and our registrar, Pat Anderson. They took care of everything from finding a meeting place to great food and getting all information about the students to me. I cannot thank them enough.

Our next school will be held October 1-2, 2014. Details about the location, and the application are on the next page.

In Memoriam

Joan Behm, a longtime member of WGCF, passed away on June 18, 2014. Joan was a founding member of Tree City Garden Club, and also helped organize garden club in Berlin and Poy Sippi. In each of these garden clubs, she was an excellent example to all the members by spearheading community beautification projects. She had been an Accredited Flower Show Judge and a county fair flower judge for many years..

If she saw a beautiful garden in town, she would ask the owner if they wanted to become a garden club member. She never gave up trying to grow WGCF and felt the importance of the Federated Garden Club.

Horticulture: New Plants for 2014

Nancy Gotham, Horticulture Chair

Part of gardening is an “act of optimism” according to The American Gardener magazine. There are many new plant introductions for 2014.

New Perennials are:

1. Echinacea purpurea Supreme ‘Cantaloupe’ is a double-flowered coneflower in a new orange color; grows 24-29”.
2. Dark Moody Blues Veronica, (Veronica spicata ‘Novoverblu’), grows 12-14” tall and wide. Other colors are ‘Maue Moody Blues’ and ‘Pink Moody Blues’.
3. ‘Beyond Blue’ fescue grass (Festuca glauca); Mark Dwyer of the Janesville gardens says the “steely blue” color never fades. Grows 9-12” high and 18” wide.
4. Hosta ‘Curly Fries’ is a miniature with rippled edges.
5. Big Bluestem ‘Rain Dance’; its green, red-tipped foliage turns purple in late summer and bright red in fall. Small red flowers that form on the red stems make this cultivar even more interesting.
6. Blue Towers’ baptisia has not had a new variety in ages. It has spiky-blooms that are long-lasting and plentiful.
7. Hemerocallis ‘Midnight Raider’ presents large, ruffled fragrant red-purple blossoms with yellow halos and green throats. Grows 30”.

New Annuals are:

1. Coleus ‘Mighty Mosaic’ which was rated “superior” in the Penn State trials.
2. Petunia x hybrid ‘Cha-Ching Cherry’ has creamy-white flowers with vibrant cherry stripes and yellow throats. Grows 10-16” tall.
3. Tassel Flower ‘Irish Poet’ is a rare heirloom being reintroduced. The flowers are a tufted bright orange; easy to grow and loves sun; 18-24”.
4. Verbena ‘Candy Stripe’ grows pink and red-striped blooms and has a trailing habit.
5. Sunflower ‘MS MARS’ is low-growing with a strong branching habit, and has flowers, leaves and stems in a shades of deep purple and red.

Edibles are:

1. ‘Adelaide’ carrot is truly baby-sized; 3-4” long; matures in about 55 days.
2. ‘Summer Girl’ tomato produces tomatoes in 49-52 days; 5-6 oz.
3. ‘Bam’ basil’ does not bolt to seed because it is flowerless!

4. ‘Babybeet’ beet is small enough to steam and is thin-skinned.
5. ‘Indigo Sun’ is a grafted tomato growing to 36 to 60” and 3’ wide. The plant produces tomatoes in clusters of eight. It is gold with burgundy shoulders. They are ideal for quartering and using in salads.

Trees & Shrubs are:

1. ‘Lemon Lace’ cutleaf elderberry (Sambucus racemosa) has bright yellow-green foliage and grows 3-5’; is an eye-catcher in full or part sun according to Mark Dwyer.
2. Skinny Genes Oak, (Quercus robur x Q alba ‘JFS-KW2QX’) has a very narrow, columnar shape; grows 45’ tall and 10’ wide. Its dark green foliage turns yellow in autumn.
3. Golden Duchess eastern hemlock (tsuga Canadensis ‘Monkin’) grows on cascading branches and tolerates full sun. The shrubs grow 3-4’ tall and 3-5’ wide.
4. ‘Cobalt-n-Gold’ hypericum is a 2-3’ mounded shrub with exfoliating bark. Its silver foliage turns red, yellow and orange in autumn. Its 3/4” yellow flowers bloom in early summer.
5. Lotus Moon pearlbus (Exochorda x macrantha ‘Bailimoon’). It has petite white five-petal flower buds that open and smother the bush in early spring.

All of the above-mentioned plants will thrive in growing zones 3 and 4. Hopefully these new varieties will spur you to seek out these new plants and try some of them.

Happy Gardening!

Home-made Deer Repellent

Submitted by Doris Weber

Commercial deer repellents are expensive and yet the active ingredient in most is something we have in our own kitchens — eggs. Try this recipe for home-made deer repellent.

INGREDIENTS:

- 1 egg
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 Tbsp. Oil (can use Hot Chili Oil, but regular Vegetable oil is okay)
- 1 Tbsp. Dish Soap

Mix ingredients in gallon jug of water. Allow to “ferment” for several days/weeks. Filter out large sediment and apply with sprayer. Lasts for several weeks, even through rain.

(Editor's Note: Please report to Doris Weber how this works for you.)

Congratulations from Coulee District on these milestones:

Submissions Welcome

Publication approximately October 1, delivery by October 15

Due to the variability of bulk non-profit postage delivery, WGCF and Wisconsin Gardens takes no responsibility of late delivery of event announcements. Please plan accordingly.

Coming in the Fall 2014 Issue: Birds, Directory; Environmental Study; NGC, CR and WGCF Life Members; Scholarships; Smokey Bear/Woodsy Owl; Youth Activities. Articles also needed by general members, please consider writing about your garden, activities, club projects, etc.

As I'm looking out the window this morning, I'm reflecting on the joy and wonder of the past few weeks of working with children in summer school gardening classes. Our Garden Club was again privileged to be able to work with the local elementary school on planning and planting a school garden – we worked with children, ages 5 to 12, for three weeks. As the children were planning and drawing their gardens, one child told the teacher that she wanted to plant dandelions in her garden. Such joy those yellow flowers bring to children while we “older ones” grumble about them.

Perhaps our Club members gained as much from the wisdom of the children as the children gained from our gardening knowledge and experience. For example, there was the morning when a young girl, about 7 years old, told me that “You don't need to worry about winning. As long as your life is good, winning doesn't matter, you just have to do your best.” And in my mind, I'm wondering what brought that comment out at 8:00 a.m. Another day a little girl told me about how her family lived with grandpa and her grandpa is “real” – when I asked her to explain “real”, she said “my grandpa is here – he's not in heaven”. Oh these wise youngsters – how much they have to tell us when we take the time to listen.

It was enjoyable to share a little information from Convention with the children about the value of earthworm castings (okay, I will admit they loved it when I said “earthworm poop”!). That day, as we moved dirt from a pile into a container garden, many of them were looking for earthworms and making sure we had plenty in the garden. It was so sweet when one little one was carefully putting an earthworm into the container garden and kissed it goodbye as she placed it on the soil.

I know there were many more comments made to other Garden Club members about all that the children were discovering and learning in the garden and about nature. We each can help others enjoy the beauty of a flower, “take time to smell the roses” and maybe even kiss an earthworm.
